DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Litto (6,220,311). Litto disclose the limitations of the claims including a container (fig. 1j) comprising first fillable member (12) with first fill aperture (16), second fillable member (28) with second fillable aperture (22), both having necks (24,18) and vessels (portions extending therefrom), first fillable member being both solid and transparent (col. 21, line 18), shared wall (wall dividing neck portions), second fillable member being of an animal design (snake or eel), contoured surface (rounded bottom) or a smooth surface (48), lid (66, 60).

3. Claims 11-14 and 16-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Herman (5,437,381). Herman discloses the limitations of the claims including a container comprising first fillable member (2), second, 3-dimnesionally shaped fillable member (12) disposed within said first fillable member and visible from the exterior of first said fillable member, each container having a neck member and vessel member (fig. 5, 12 & 2), second fillable member is carried substantially within said vessel member of said first fillable member (fig. 5), fill aperture (2 & 12 comprise respective upper neck region that ultimately define said fill aperture), second fillable member shares wall with said first fillable member (bottom wall), second fillable member has the design of an animal (eel or snake), contoured surface (curved bottom portion of second fillable member), second fillable member is substantially smooth (container 12 is clearly smooth) and a lid (22,8). It should be noted that each fillable member is selectively accessible either by design or through manipulation of the user, i.e. the second, inner container starts "to flow only after said first compartment has been substantially emptied of said first liquid." (col. 1, line 66).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Herman ('381) in view of Maines (5,921,440). Herman excludes what Maines teaches, an outer container being transparent so that an inner container can be seen from an exterior of said outer container. Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have modified Herman with an outer container made of transparent material in order to make possible clear viewing of the inner contents of the bottle.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

7. Applicant's arguments filed 8/29/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant contends that the Herman ('381) does not anticipate independent claims 1 and 11 because the two invention do not dispense their contents in the same manner however, there is no limitation in the claim to distinguish the two from each other on the grounds of varying dispensing design. In particular claim 11 has the limitation "selectively accessible" however this limitation does not serve to distinguish over the prior art of record because Herman, by design, dispenses contents of the containers one after the other (outer then inner respectively; col. 1, line 66) and therefore provides both a selective and accessible means of dispensing liquid from the two containers simply by design.
